

DRAW A LINE IN THE SAND – PARENT TESTIMONIES

July 2010

---

Joey started the protocol when he was three years old. He began with just the Ginko and that alone appeared to provide a spark in his intelligence and personality. He began to have more interest in the people and things around him. He also began retaining his letters and their sounds at a much quicker rate. When we saw the results of the Ginko, a few months later we added the rest of the components in the protocol. (we added everything but the Focalin--). It has been just about two years since he started the protocol. His interactions and awareness have increased so much more. He continues to grow and amaze us every day. He is now even seeking out other kids to play with. He has two very active older brothers, and he is running, jumping and having no problem keeping up with them. He can hit a baseball, plays soccer, and could jump on the trampoline all day long. His speech is coming rapidly now. I used to dream of him being able to "just say anything"--- now he is using full sentences and while some of it is still not completely clear, he has no problem communicating any of his needs, wants, and feelings. He has been completely potty trained (through the night even) for a year and a half now. He knows all his letters and their sounds, he knows 30+ sight words, is beginning to read sentences, and has just started working on touch math. He is five years old. He will be starting kindergarten in the fall and I'm highly considering adding the Focalin aspect to his daily intake. I feel this will help him focus more at school with so much activity going on there. I truly believe the protocol has and will continue to help him keep progressing forward on his road to a happy, healthy, and wonderful life.

Sincerely,

Colleen Tullis
